

INSPIRING SUPPER

— SATURDAY 3RD OCTOBER —

Tension in the Arctic: Fact and Fiction in the High North.

Humphrey Hawksley on a new global flashpoint and his career as a thriller writer and BBC foreign correspondent.

Humphrey Hawksley is an award-winning author and foreign correspondent whose assignments with the BBC have taken him to crises all over the world. He was born and raised in Suffolk and learned to sail at Slaughden.

He is the creator of the RAKE OZENNA espionage thriller series which originated from a reporting assignment to the remote US-Russian border during heightened tension. The latest, Operation Icebreaker, out in October, is centred on Greenland. Humphrey is also the author of the best-selling Third World War 'future history' series based around China, Russia and Asia military/political scenarios.

He has presented numerous BBC documentaries and his non-fiction includes Asian Waters: The Struggle Over the Indo-Pacific and the Challenge to American Power and Democracy Kills: What's so Good about Having the Vote.

Humphrey hosts the Democracy Forum Debates on international issues and Care Visions Professional Talk that examines challenges and trauma facing children and young people.
